Before any business pays for a CRM, I usually start them on a spreadsheet.

Swipe for the breakdown →

01

One master list of every lead, tagged by source and campaign

02

A named owner on the sales team for every lead

03

Status and next follow-up date right next to each lead

04

A weekly summary built from the same data, so nobody rebuilds a report by hand

“

Once a team has lived in the sheet for a few months, moving to a proper CRM is easy, because the habits already exist.

How do your ad leads reach your sales team today?

Want me to review your lead flow?

Comment AUDIT or send a DM. The audit is free.